

FRANCOIS LANGUR

Trachypithecus francoisi

The Francois (fran-swah) langur is a type of slender, leaf-eating monkey. Bright eyes and stand-up hair give the Francois a look of constant surprise! Langurs live in groups, with one adult male and multiple females and offspring. At three or four years old, juvenile males leave to form a bachelor group or join another family group.

HABITAT

Tropical forests

FOOD

Leaves, fruit

LEAST CONCERN

NEAR THREATENED

VULNERABLE

ENDANGERED

CRITICALLY ENDANGERED

EXTINCT IN THE WILD

EXTINCT